Procedure to be followed when leaving train unattended in Abergynolwyn West Platform

When it is necessary for all members of a train crew to leave the immediate vicinity of their train and this train is standing in the west platform at Abergynolwyn, e.g. because the crew wish to enjoy a refreshment break under the station canopy, then, in addition to following Rule F.2 (e), the guards van brake should be applied and the van door locked.

This procedure should help to prevent the train running away if a third party were to climb on the footplate and release the locomotive hand brake.
